Strike In Britain A Serious Problem

London.—Though it would be premature to abandon hope of a settlement of the railway strike, the situation has disappointed the expectation of some arrangement resulting from the numerous conferences between the labor representatives and the government, and the position is again grave. James Henry Thomas, general secretary of the National Union of Railwaymen, announced that the efforts to re-open the negotiations had collapsed, owing to government refusal to go beyond its previous offer, but appended that other unions, than the railwaymen were continuing their efforts at mediation, but while the strike continued, the railroad men would do nothing to hinder mediation.

After a conference of the executive of the railwaymen and transport workers, Mr. Thomas issued a statement in which he said:

"Rumors of a settlement are incorrect. The negotiations have broken down, inasmuch as the government offer does not differ from that of September 26.

The government is increasing its organization to ensure service, and under emergency powers have closed Regent's park to the public, and are using the park as a clearing center for market produce, frozen meat and fish, in the same way that Hyde Park is being used for the distribution of milk.

Both the Prime Minister and Secretary Thomas issued statements, which were shown on a picture screen, setting forth briefly the respective attitudes of the government and the union.

The Premier declared that the government was not engaged in fighting trades union, but to prevent an attack against the life of the community. Secretary Thomas declared that the railwaymen were not fighting the community, but against a conspiracy to lower wages.

Women of Archanal Are Buying Poison

Intend to Kill Themselves Rather Than Fall Into Hands of the Reds

Paris.—Chemist shops at Archanal are openly selling poison to young women who are buying it with the expressed intention of killing themselves rather than fall into the hands of the Bolsheviks, according to a United States officer who has just arrived from Northern Russia.

While several shiploads of Bolsheviks have been deported from Archanal by extreme police, the majority of the anti-Bolshevik population refuse to leave, saying it is impossible to go peacefully into a strange country.

German Agent Sentenced
New York—"Count" Max Lyner London, a former German agent, who included among his exploits a plot to kidnap President Wilson and invade Canada with 150,000 German recruits, was sentenced to three years in Sing Sing prison recently for attempted forgery. The "count" was recently released from the same prison where he has spent his time since April, 1916, serving an indeterminate sentence for bigamy.

British Officer Ordered
Vladivostok.—Troops from the British fleet in the Black Sea have been landed in Odessa, and have occupied the city, according to advices received at Budapest.

Huge Stocks Held In Cold Storage

Winnipeg.—There is sufficient butter in cold storage in the warehouses of the Manitoba Cold Storage Company and the William Davies Company to take care of Manitoba's home consumption for nearly five months, reports filed by the managers of the two plants at a recent session of the Board of Commerce food probe revealed.

Gordon W. Shantz, general manager of the Manitoba Cold Storage Company, stated that there are in storage at present 1,367,000 pounds of butter. John MacFarlane, manager of William Davies' plant, has 362,879 pounds of butter in storage, making a total of 1,729,879 pounds of butter stored in these two warehouses at present. Both managers declared that this was nothing out of

Notables Marked For Assassination

Testimony Given By Former Military Attache of German Consulate

San Francisco, Cal.—Charles M. Schwab, Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, former British Ambassador to the United States; Lord Fisher, of the British Admiralty; the late Lord Kitchener, and the British Vice-consulate at Ensenada, Mexico, were marked for assassination by agents of the German government, according to sworn testimony given by former First Lieutenant Wilhelm von Brincken, formerly military attache of the German consulate in San Francisco, to Commissioner of Immigration Henry M. White, of Seattle, Washington.

A transcript of the statement was received here by Attorney Henry M. Owens, von Brincken's legal adviser in San Francisco. Von Brincken is serving a two-year sentence in the federal penitentiary at McNeil Island for the part he played in the so-called Hinde conspiracy case.

D'Annunzio Aids Regulars

Blockade of Fiume No More Severe Than Formerly

Rome.—Orders closing the Jugo-Slav frontier have led to the chief of staff of the 26th Italian regular army corps at Abbazia to interview Captain D'Annunzio's chief of staff and discuss measures to be taken. This has resulted in the sending of some of Captain D'Annunzio's volunteers to hold positions in accordance to the Epoca, which adds: "The event shows the cordial collaboration between the D'Annunzio forces and the regulars."

The correspondent of the Epoca says the blockade of Fiume is more severe than formerly, even when being held at the frontier. There is food sufficient for three months for the population of Fiume.

Milk Advances In Toronto

Instead of 15 Tickets for a Dollar Consumer Will Receive

Only 12
Toronto.—Under the order of the Board of Commerce, the price of milk will be increased here. Instead of 15 tickets for $1, the consumers will now receive 12 tickets for the same sum, which means an advance of a cent per quart.

The board permitted an increase to the farmer of 45 cents a can, which, upon the basis of consumption of 1,000 cans per day, means an increased income to the farmers of $2,700 a day, or $985,000 per year.

Kolkche's Appeal

Omak.—Coincident with the issuance of a decree calling for the convocation of a Zemstvo, the Soviet minister Kolkche, head of the all-Russian government, made an appeal to the population to drop party struggles and unite around the government.

Custom Receipts

Ottawa.—Customs receipts for the six months of the fiscal year ending September 30 totalled $82,097,212, an increase over the same period last year of $26,323. For the month of September alone receipts totalled $14,533,313, or $2,756,729 greater than in September, 1918.

Manitoba Cold Storage Plant

The Manitoba Cold Storage plant has a matter of 1,110,000 dozen eggs in storage.

Particulars of the butter stored with the William Davies Company showed that Arthur Lobb, M.L.A. for Rockwood, has 13,500 pounds.

Over a half million pounds of frozen beef is stored by the same firm for Gordon, Ironside and Fares, who 30,000 head of cattle, some of the men assisting with the work of the commission made the comment at the close of the session that the best beef they would be able to cover 3,000,000 pounds of beef in cold storage in Manitoba before the board was through its probe.

Clothing Is Next

On Price List

Retailers Will Be Called To Give Evidence

Toronto.—Another sitting of the Board of Commerce will be held here when Judge Robson, chairman, W. F. O'Connor, vice-chairman, and F. A. Acland, deputy minister of labor, will be the commissioners. The probe will embrace the retailers' end of the high price of wearing apparel. Retailers will be called to give evidence, and the costs will be worked back to the manufacturer to see where the great spread comes in the price of all texts at the present time.

The elting of the court promises further interest in the fact that the "big five" packers will be on hand to fight to the last ditch the order bringing down the price of wholesale pork products.

Cheap Lignite Coal

Briguet Industry In Southeastern Saskatchewan Will Be Paying Cent

Winnipeg.—That the last problem in the manufacture of brigquets in the lignite fields of southeastern Saskatchewan and Southwestern Manitoba had been solved, and the last doubt as to the feasibility of the plan had been removed, was the place where the Hon. T. H. Johnson, attorney-general, Mr. Johnston stated that on his recent trip into Ottawa he had been shown over the experimental plant of the lignite utilization commission at Regina. The commission, said Johnson, was proceeding with the plans for erecting a plant which would produce brigquets on a paying basis, and will prove to be a good profit-making business enterprise. These brigquets, he said, would be placed on the market in the fall of 1920 and would sell for approximately $10 per ton. They were in every way equal to the American lignite coal. The commission is now in the hands of the Federal Government and the Provincial Governments of Manitoba and Saskatchewan.

Politics In Luxembourg

Retention of Grand Duchy Charlotte Is Now Quo

Luxemburg.—Hailing in favor of the retention of Grand Duchy Charlotte as ruler, and of the establishment of an economic alliance with France instead of with Belgium, continued to show overwhelming majorities at the start of the Federal Day, count of votes cast in the Plébicite to determine the future of the Grand Duchy.

The French economic alliance continued to lead in favor by a vote of about 3 to 1. In the count of 14,000 votes, 10,133 were in endorsement of Grand Duchy and 2,868 for the republic; 10,071 votes were recorded for an economic alliance with France, and 3,120 for Belgium.

Probably 80,000 votes were cast in all, but 40,000 electors did not vote. Those not voting included the Socialists, whose party endorsed the republic. The Socialists claim nearly one-fifth of the electorate.

Hawaiian Volcano Active

Thirty-Mile Stream of Lava Pours Into the Sea

Hilo, Hawaii.—A stream of lava from 800 feet to one mile wide and 30 miles long is pouring from the 13,000-foot crater of the volcano Mauna Loa, and is pouring into the sea, this city, into the sea.

The lava overtopped the crater, and reached the sea nearly 12 hours ahead of the time it had been expected to do so. The eruption of Mauna Loa began four days ago and subsided in violence after a brief duration, only to break forth with new force again.

Two ranch homes and other valuable property have been destroyed by the molten rock.

To Change Name of R.N.W.M.P.

Ottawa.—The Northwest Mounted Police have been asked to change their name to the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. The name of the Northwest Mounted Police will be changed to that of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

Good Roads Construction

Winnipeg.—Authorization for the construction of 27 miles of new roads, under the Good Roads Board, is announced. The approximate cost is $675,000. This brings the total mileage up to 3,758 at a cost of about $9,219,000, borne equally by the province and municipalities.

Rumanian Seize

German Plane

Manoed By Four Officers Who Rescued Their Arrest

Geneva.—Rumanian troops have seized a German biplane carrying 300,000,000 paper rubles and a miniature but complete railway press at the Rumanian border, according to the Rumanian bureau at Berne. The plane, which was en route to Moscow, was forced to land at Iotini because of a leak in the gasoline tank. It was manned by four German officers, who are said to have received the plane. The rubles were all said to have been new notes.

Russian General

Must Apologize

For the Arrest of Two United States Officers

Vladivostok.—Major-General Graves, commander of the United States forces in Siberia, has demanded an apology from General Rozanoff, in command of Russian troops in Primorsk, for the arrest of two United States officers, Captain J. P. Johns and Corporal Benjamin Jennings, and the flogging of the latter by the Cossacks commanded by General Kalnikoff. An investigation of the conduct of a Japanese officer at the time of the arrest, which took place, has also been begun by the Japanese high command. The arrest, which occurred September 5, is considered one of the most serious to occur since the allies landed in Siberia. The men were arrested by a detachment of Cossacks, who claimed the Americans were not provided with identification papers.

May Flame Into War

Italian Situation Becoming More of an International Question

Paris.—The inflamed conditions in the Adriatic region and the dissolution of the Italian parliament for the holding of a general election on November 16, as Rome dispatches have announced, have caused the supreme council much concern, in view of the possibility of all the Balkans becoming involved in the turmoil.

In peace conference circles the approaching Italian elections are regarded as a struggle between the war and peace parties, rather than between the forces on the military side and those of socialistic and pacific tendencies. The Italian situation is regarded as a struggle between the forces of the military side and those of socialistic and pacific tendencies. The Italian situation is regarded as a struggle between the forces of the military side and those of socialistic and pacific tendencies.

The view is expressed here that the agitation might flame into war any day, if, for instance, a Jugo-Slav should happen to be killed by Italian troops.

U. S. Shipyard Tied Up Now

About 60,000 Men in Grip of Great Industrial Struggle

San Francisco.—Involving approximately 60,000 men, including both shipyard and other workers, the San Francisco, Oakland and Alameda are in the grip of industrial disturbances which have greatly hampered industry in the entire San Francisco Bay district. Shipyard and iron trades workers, tailors, stevedores, taxi drivers, clerks, street railway employees, ferry boat employees and river steamer men are affected.

The most serious development in the situation came when 2,000 men in shipyard and iron trades workers in Oakland and Alameda, and 30,000 in San Francisco, struck. The workers and iron workers went out in an effort to force the payment of a wage increase of eight cents per hour.

Union officials say the 11,000 of the shipyards is complete. No statement was forthcoming from the California Metal Trades Association.

Fire Wipes Out Town

St. John, N.B.—Oromocto, picturesque and thriving town of New Brunswick, was almost totally destroyed by fire with a property loss of $1,000,000. The fire started in the River Valley's lumber company saw mill, and mill, offices and yards, with about 4,000,000 feet of lumber, were destroyed, together with fire stores and several dwelling houses, the lumber company's loss being $200,000.

Spanish Villages Flooded

Madrid.—Carcagente and Liria, villages in the province of Valencia, are reported to have been inundated by floods. The damage is reported heavy.

W. N. U. 1284

Adriatic Question Must Be Cleared

French Government

Approves International Show

Planned to Bring Producers and Buyers Together

Paris.—An immense project of erecting a huge building on the banks of the Seine in Paris, in which will be held a permanent exhibition designed to bring together the producers and buyers of the world, has found the support of a French financial corporation. The object is to promote commercial intercourse between third and friendly nations. The building, which will be constructed by the Quai de Passy, will probably cost $20,000,000. It will be a continuous window of the fair. The proposition has the approval of the French authorities. Twelve and a half acres of land have been secured as a site. The structure will have a frontage of 845 feet and a depth of 160 feet. The building will be nearly two and a half million square feet.

Bela Kun Not Wanted

Bolshevik Agitation Has to Be Transferred to Avoid Violence By Populace

Milan.—Bela Kun, who was interned by the Austrian Government at Haidmühl, near Basle, had to be transferred. The inhabitants of the neighboring villages, chiefly peasants, are so exasperated at the presence of the notorious Hungarian Bolshevik director that they held a meeting of protest and threatened to commit violence. The Austrian Peasants' League and the officials of the district also made representations at Vienna, and the government considered it wise to remove the objectionable prisoner. Bela Kun was, without warning, transferred to another locality, and the locality is kept secret to avoid similar protests.

Sugar Rationing Suggested

Shortage at Calgary Is 4-Tons, and This Is Put Forward

Calgary.—The adoption of the sugar card rationing system used in London was advocated here as a result of the shortage of the sugar shortage which has become acute, when one of the local dealers at the price probe was being carried on stated that he believed this would be the only possible way of guaranteeing an equitable distribution of sugar when it came into the city. Some of the wholesalers admitted having received good shipments of sugar. The probe into the sugar situation will conclude here October 2, when other lines of business will be taken up.

Woodsman Man To Go

Berlin.—The great wooden von Hindenburg monument, which during the war was studied by the populace with nails, representing so much money, will be demolished, according to the Vortische Zeitung.

Labor Troubles Due To Russ. Bolsheviks

Too Much Canadian Bacon

St. Louis, Mo.—Warning that if Germany is permitted to continue her "entire operations" in Russia, in three years she would become as powerful as before the war. The R. R. Francis, American ambassador to Russia, talking before the convention of the American Bankers' Association, said the real solution of labor unrest in Russia and the United States is in the peace treaty. He urged the League of Nations.

He charged that the Brest-Litovsk treaty was arranged by Lenin's wife, who had been the Third R. R. Francis were German agents. Labor troubles all over the world emanated from Russia, he said, and it was impossible to establish peace in Europe while the Bolsheviks reigned in Russia.

Too Much Canadian Bacon

So Plentiful That It Is Being Sold To Soapmakers in England

Montreal.—The Herald quotes from a man who has just returned from London as claiming that "too much Canadian bacon was sent to the soap factories in England. 'Canadian bacon is a drug on the market in London,' says the Herald's informant. 'When I was at Liverpool 2,000 cases of Canadian bacon were going to be sold to Lever Bros. to melt down into soap. Cases of Canadian bacon of 500-pound loaves sold for 3s 2d each, or 2s 6d for 500 pounds.'

Hunger is sure to come to those who sit down and wait.

The Expenditure of $610,000,000

How the last Victory Loan was spent

For Demobilization

For Trade Extension

BEFORE buying Victory Bonds again you may want to know how Canada used the money you loaned her last year

Canada borrowed the money to carry on the war and to provide credits for Great Britain and our Allies

CONSIDERABLY more than one-half of the Victory Loan 1918 was spent on our soldiers. This included $312,900,000 for paying them feeding them bringing them home, separation allowances to their dependents, maintenance of medical services and vocational training schools

$59,000,000 of the Victory Loan 1918 was paid on account of authorized Soldiers gratuities

$9,000,000 was spent at Halifax for relief and reconstruction after the disaster

+ + + + +

Other disbursements were not strictly speaking expenditures, but National Re-investments.

To Great Britain for example

$173,500,000 was loaned for the purchase of our wheat and cereals

$9,000,000 for our fish.

$30,000,000 for other Foodstuffs

$2,900,000 for Canadian built ships

$5,500,000 to pay other British obligations in Canada.

Making in all $220,900,000 advanced to Great Britain

To our Allies, we loaned $8,200,000 for the purchase of Canadian foodstuffs, raw material and manufactured products

The Re-investments will be paid back to Canada in due time, with interest

These credits were absolutely necessary to secure the orders for Canada because cash purchases were impossible

They have had the effect of tremendously helping agricultural and industrial workers to tide over the depression that would have followed the Armistice, had we not made these credit loans

As far as money is concerned, 1919 has been, and is still—just as much a war year as 1918. Our main expenditures for war cannot be completed until well on into 1920. Thus another Victory Loan is necessary—Get ready to buy.

Victory Loan 1919

"Every Dollar Spent in Canada"

Dear Sir,

I feel it a privilege as well as a duty to send a few lines to all old friends and neighbors through the columns of the "Bow Island Review."

We have had an excellent opportunity to get a good general survey of this fair land by the use of my brother-in-law Car. The country is large with many prosperous farms, and there are still a few homestead quarters open for filing. Wheat will average 40 bushels per acre, grade no. 1, and oats will run about 60 bushels per acre, wild hay is also very plentiful, there are more crops for sale than can be shipped until the railroad is improved, trains are few and slow. I was twelve days coming from Whitt, with my carload of effects and it cost $145.00 for the car, passengers come through in three days, the fare is about $20.00. I would not advise anyone to ship their goods up until they first come and locate a place, land is selling from $100 to $200 per acre.

Very few places are for sale, most of the farms have some timber and the vast open land. Good water can generally be gotten at a depth of about 60 feet. We find groceries, clothing etc. about 5% higher than in other parts of Alberta. Fuel and Feed are free, or at least much cheaper if a man can be here to raise his own. Some years frost damages crops, but this year no frost till Sept. 20th.

We are comfortably heated for the winter among a good class of people such as one finds in any new country. The first settlers came in about four to six years ago.

We are nearly forty miles from town, but are well provided with a fine kit of Red Cross First Aid materials, kindly presented to us by Mr. Blaine of the Bow Island Drug Co. and which we have already had occasion to use.

We are holding regular services, and find a large district open for Gospel work, last winter my sister and her husband nursed many cases of the "Flu" in different parts of this country.

At McLennan a railway junction fifty miles from Peace River, I met Mr. Bromley who has been at Bow Island as Station Agent; he is now operator at McLennan.

Now, we will be glad to hear from any of you at any time and will try to answer any questions you wish to ask.

Respectfully

(Pastor) P. A. Rick

POLICE NEWS

Mrs. R. MacDonald was fined $5.00 and costs last Thursday afternoon by Mr. LaMarsh J.P. for quarrelling with Mrs. Joe Green and being on her place. According to statement of Mrs. MacDonald, several calves belonging to the Greens, kept repeatedly trespassing on the MacDonalds' land, by crawling through the wire fence, then eating up the little bit of feed that the MacDonalds needed for part of their winter feed, and to save the expense to the Greens by putting the calves in the Pound. Mrs. MacDonald insisted, went to Mrs. Green's farm, to tell her that the calves were again eating up the wee bit of feed on MacDonalds' farm, and that Mrs. Green then abused her and called her everything she could think of and called her big boy to throw a rope round Mrs. MacDonald's leg which Mrs. MacDonald said he did and dragged her for several yards and in the place.

'Simple Way to Get "Peep" To Be Put Right On Your Feet'

When a man has lost ambition to "sit tight" and stay at his regular job, complaining of headache, fullness in the right side, pains in the shoulder blade, a purely a case of "Peep". These symptoms invariably indicate a clogged, inactive liver. The body can't get rid of its wastes, and the whole system is half paralyzed. Dr. Hamilton's Pills stimulate the liver into activity in one night, bring a cold, vegetable, inactive, dry, prostrate results in a few hours. The bilious headache and constipation are cured, spirits rise, complexion clears, animation returns. Nothing in the calendar so efficient for that tired feeling as Dr. Hamilton's Pills. (Continued.)

For Ruggles was naturally convinced that Lorenz had taken advantage of his early confidence, go to work deliberately to get his promotion away from him. Lorenz would probably have been there for a long time, for the management of the Vienna branch had not learned from Ruggles of the ready response to his application. Therefore, Lorenz had been working quietly for his own preferment, advancing his claims of capacity as a native and a man thoroughly acquainted from previous experience with the retail shoe trade of that city. Ruggles thought of Lorenz's recent absence without doubt he had gone to London to advance his application in person to the general manager, who had his headquarters there for the Walkways Shoe Company had stores in most of the leading cities of the British Isles.

But that which was the acid into Ruggles' soul was the fact that the company should not have given him due notice that his own claims were being contested. The company had not played fair, and for Ruggles to feel that the company was not fair was not played fair to the conviction of an ardent patriot that his country had shamed him. To feel that the Walkways Shoe Company could have been guilty of broken faith was outrageous, almost sacrilegious; yet how could it act be regarded as unfair? The action which had taken place in this matter seemed to Ruggles to be a deliberate, pithy, and un-American. Leaving, that big, giant, saturnal sneeze, who would rather torture a mouse than sell a pair of shoes, had been promoted over his head, merely because he had been a native-born (and there, no doubt, malodorous, if the truth were known) in the city where the branch store was to be established.

Ruggles' first emotion, after the primary shock had passed, was a profound sense of injury, not directed against Lorenz or even in fact against the company, but against his shattered ideals. His next thought was of what this disappointment meant to him as concerned the present conditions of his life. He was still no more than he had been before—an insignificant little shoe clerk, the limit of whose importance in the social scheme of things was to maintain and remove muddy shoes from feet not always tidy, and to smile in to the faces of the proletariat.

For the first time in his life he was seized with a loathing of his occupation. Dariale was right; his life was a rotten, humiliating job. He wondered that he had never seen it in this way before. It did not occur to him that he had not done so because he had always regarded the business in its larger light—as a great commercial affair of which he was a humble but necessary unit. A private soldier, an orderly, cleaning the boots of his superior on active service, does not think of himself as a soldier, but he thinks of himself as a soldier. In carrying a horse, he does not think of himself as a groom; he thinks of himself as a groom. He thinks of himself as a soldier, and his self-respect is not impaired. Ruggles had thought of himself as a soldier, a private in the invading army of American troops, and he was not a servant of the public to whom he sold shoes; he was not the servant of the great industrial organization which was justified to carry its country's flag to where East becomes West and West East. He was nobody's servant, great army of American commerce, and as such entitled to his chevrons.

It never entered Ruggles' head to go to Ruth in his distress. Neither did he seriously consider an appeal to Mr. Downing. A private soldier with a sense of wrong might look to his colonel for redress, but he would scarcely think of trying to carry the matter to his king or president or secretary of war. Had Dick Downing been in Europe, Ruggles might have turned to him for counsel, but Dick was in America. Downing, the president of the company, had not been turned to him for counsel, but Dick was in America. Downing, the president of the company, had not been turned to him for counsel, but Dick was in America.

It is possible that if Ruggles had not gone to Ruth for advice in regard to his present affairs, he might have taken his grievance in both hands and shown it to Mr. Downing, Senior, in justice it is most probable that his wrongs could have been investigated and cleared up. Mr. Downing had lost his health in the handling of just such conditions, and he was carefully prepared to do the same. But Ruggles could not do that. Mr. Downing was his father, the president of the company and a great man, but the company that he administered was far greater than his chief executive. It was the company that was responsible to him for the injustice done; not Mr. Downing or Ruth or Dick. The Downings had done their duty, but the company a good, honest company, to employees as well as clients, and if they had failed it was not their fault, but that of their unworthy stewards. Ruggles felt that his quarrel was not with the Downings, but with the company. He was prepared to fight it out as such. He felt that the Downings had been deceived in their organization as well.

To go to Ruth or Mr. Downing for restitution was quite impossible. It smacked too much of bootlicking. White Ruggles was willing and ready to do almost anything with a pair of boots, he drew the line at the company. Besides, after all, it was his right and comfort which Ruth had rendered him, Ruggles could not bear to show up to her the company in such a position. It seemed to Ruggles that he had given his allegiance to an octopus, a merciless, man-grinding machine of which the human sellers were mere cogs to be worn ragged and flung on to the scrapheap. There was his father, whose machine had earned millions for the company, and who had never received over two hundred dollars a month. Damn the company! Curse the company! Ruggles grabbed up his hat and rushed out.

Forgetting his dinner, he wandered the streets aimlessly until ten o'clock. Then he went back to his room and to bed. He would work no longer for any greedy, soulless, treacherous man. He determined to throw up his job the following day, draw the three thousand and odd francs which represented the savings of many years and which was deposited in a French bank, then take the first steamer for New York, where he would hunt up some well-to-do of an entirely different character.

Ruggles, in spite of his youth and swelling blood, slept badly that night. His dreams were ugly and confused. He thought that Lorenz, with the face of a rat (suggested perhaps by the manner in which he had been treated by his bed and trying to gnaw his feet. He struck at him in his sleep and smacked over his table-dent. About dawn he fell into a heavy, slumberous sleep and did not awake until nine o'clock. Then he got up, took his sponge-bath, dressed with care, and walked slowly down into Paris. He found the bank, drew out his balance, and told the cashier that he was going away.

His mood had changed in the last few hours, and he found himself, instead of being sad, in a state of savage, smoldering resentment. It had occurred to him that, besides Lorenz, the manager of the store, whom he had always considered a good friend, had acted treacherously. He must have known that Lorenz was going to be fired, and he had failed to put Ruggles on his guard. Ruggles decided to tell Durand what he thought of him. He felt that he would enjoy an interview with Lorenz also, but reflected that the Austrian had probably left Paris for Vienna. His packing of the morning before would indicate immediate departure. This also explained his early, inhospitable conduct. Ruggles reflected that Lorenz had felt that he had served him a dirty trick and was on the defensive. "I'd like to meet him out on the road somewhere," said Ruggles to himself. "He may be twice my size, but I'll bet I could give him something like that. And that damn Durand, too."

In this opinion Ruggles was quite a little beneath the medium size, but clean living and exercised had developed a frame which was solid of bone and muscle. He was also a very sure-footed runner, and he was now in for boxing when living in New York, where he had belonged to the Y.M.C.A. and practiced nightly in the gymnasium.

It was about ten o'clock when he entered the store, where the first person on whom his eyes happened to rest was the young man, the son of the British Red Cross, whom he had met the previous morning on the Avenue du Bois de Boulogne, and who was in the act of putting up a pair of light hunting-boots. He did not see Ruggles, who, not wishing to disturb him, passed to the rear of the store, where he came upon the manager and Lorenz, standing at the door of the office engaged in conversation.

Ruggles's eye, red-rimmed from lack of sleep, blazed up at the sight, and he could feel the blood pumping into his head. His mouth opened suddenly to become hot and dry and his muscles tightened. He had no desire to make a scene, especially as there was the young man, the son of the British Red Cross, who was in the place for that early hour, and his years of training had made him a soldier almost in the nature of him. But the sight of these two men who had so traitorously used him awakened in his system some quality long latent, and he now came boiling up and ingeniously demanding expression.

Durand caught sight of Ruggles as he approached. Perhaps at the same time he saw trouble in the congested eyes, for the pink color faded from his cheeks, and he turned to look at Ruggles with cold dispassion. "Why are you so late?" he demanded, in his excellent English. "We have had some customers who have been here long lately, and they are now come boiling up and ingeniously demanding expression."

"Oh, how was?" Ruggles answered. "Then what's the matter with Lorenz leaving on them?" He glared challengingly at the two men, whose saturnal face had become suddenly venomous. It suggested, however, the face of a rat, a large, snub-nosed, combed rat, with beady eyes glittered. Ruggles recalled his dream, which did not go far to help the situation.

"Mr. Lorenz is going away," said Durand. "He is going to Vienna to take the management of our new store, which is to open this week."

"Oh, is he?" Ruggles's voice was ominously calm. "I guess that must be the job that was promised to me. How did the company happen to give it to Lorenz?"

The Lone Match

An Experience Which Befell King Edward

The Prince of Wales has had many strange experiences on his Canadian travels, but it is hardly likely that he will be called upon to endure such a terrible ordeal as befell his grandfather during his sojourn in Canada. Several years ago, when the prince, then a child, was in the country, he produced a cigar, and his companions followed suit. "A match, please," he requested, whereupon it was discovered that there was but one match among the whole party. Wind was tearing across the prairie, and they were set to determine who should attempt to keep the solitary, precious match alight. To his dismay the lot fell upon King Edward, then Prince of Wales. He had but a few seconds to get the match alight, and his companions gathered round and watched their coats for shelter. The match was lit—so were all the cigars. But seldom before had King Edward said to any of his companions, "I feel so nervous as at the moment of striking that match."

Aerial Development

Feasibility of Establishing Fast Mail Service Between Canadian and American Cities

The possibility of aerial development between those of all other means of communication and transportation now known to man. During the international race, which was the first of its kind, the feasibility of establishing a fast mail service between several Canadian and American cities, letters and newspapers travelled from New York to Toronto or vice versa in a very few days. The ultimate establishment of a regular service of this kind, which could be maintained with reasonable certainty for several months in the year, would mean to the business interests of both communities is impossible of estimation at this time. In Britain, where the airplane is steadily used for commercial purposes, including a passenger and mail schedule from London to Paris, the benefits of the air route have been proven beyond all possibility of discussion. The development there is going with a breadth of vision and a simplicity that show to what extent the British people regard the importance of aerial leadership in their plans of its application to modern conditions.

The international contest, which has had its advertising value for Toronto and Canada generally, as well as for the Canadian National Exhibition, has rather emphasized the reliability of the airplane as well as its adaptability for the services of peace.—From the Toronto Globe.

Comet Approaching Earth

Cambridge, Massachusetts.—The comet discovered recently by Dr. H. G. Metcalf, of the Harvard Observatory, is expected to pass within a short time. It is now of the eighth magnitude, but on October 16 it will be four times as bright, and about 44,000 miles from the earth. It is now near the sun, and its course will take it close to the solar star.

The weight of the transgressor is invariably light.

Many a woman smiles inwardly while crying outwardly.

How Long Can They Do It?

What Is the True Relation of Cost of Revenue in Government Operation of Roads

There is in Canada current opinion that it costs the Government $1 to get $1 gross revenue from the railroads which have been emancipated from the capitalistic class. A deficit of $500,000 in 1912 is the forecast. This straightway gives rise to conjecture as to what the true relation of cost and revenue would be if some courageous administration reached down to the bottom of our Government operation of the roads.

Thanks in part to still persistencies of the Canadian situation, the private Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific have contributed nobly to the Government's experiment in railroad operation. This and other causes have steadily lifted the percentage of cost to gross revenue. Today it is 89 per cent for the Grand Trunk and 81 per cent for the Canadian Pacific. The percentage that actually discloses the shocking amount of surplus, rather than the appalling ingenuity of deficit.

Monthly statements, duly audited and sent to the Government, show that the Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific are on their own motive power. The exact status of the government roads is not a matter of conjecture, friendly, invidious or neutral, as may be. Some incredulous want to know how they are to reach a conclusive audit of Canadian Northern, making a true capital investment basis for figures. Others there is an opening deficit of more than three per cent.

What if it be so that the more wheels turn round and the faster they turn the more money they lose. If it costs 3 cents not to lose to a dollar, isn't the taxpayer there to pay it? And doesn't the public 3 cents go at once back into circulation? As long as he has a dollar left to burn, why should the taxpayer writhle and cug?

It is a staunch supporter of a western co-operative grain concern with a long and honorable record of losses into its loss to its "innocent" (surrounders). Happily free of the embarrassment of literary cult, he has given the government's railroad audit a book heading, accurate and novel. They should be satisfied, and so should the taxpayers. For, as a business inquirer for Government figures says: "If a taxpayer is not to pay these taxes, what is he for? But how long can they do it?"—Wall Street Journal.

To Ensure Coal Supply

Washington.—The British Embassy has informed the state department that owing to the railroad strike in England, the supply of bunker coal at Gibraltar, Malta, Egypt, Sierra Leone and British coaling stations in the Atlantic probably will be restricted for the present to outward bound freighters.

Closing of some of the principal ports of the United Kingdom, also used to refer to the coast during the strike, it was said, in order to prevent congestion, while an order holding all British vessels bound for the British Isles, and other in the Indian ports or at a port of call, was said to be imminent.

D'Annunzio's Message To The Venetians

Urging Them to Throw Off the Shameful Yoke

Rome, Italy.—Papers in Venice publish a message from Capt. Gabriele D'Annunzio to Venetians involving their aid and urging them to throw off the shameful yoke. Captain D'Annunzio declares, "I am an absolute master of Fiume, so the victorious army, repudiated in its own country, is reconstituting itself around me, a being considered as a traitor. I am triumphant, still remain at Fiume in face of all. We shall build at Fiume a new country."

Some papers express regret at the message, which, they state, aims at destroying the unity and discipline of the state. According to the Tribune, Prince Amedeo, son of the Duke of Aosta, is at Fiume, as is also Commandant Rizzo.

Cincinnati wins 4 Games
White Sox wins 2 Games

Cincinnati, Chicago Americans won the sixth game of the world's series here today, making a great up-fight and amazing it in the tenth inning by a score of 5 to 4. Kerr pitched the full game, despite being hit hard, for his teammates were also in a hitting mood. Heuther, who won the opening game of the series for Cincinnati, was knocked out of the box in the sixth inning, with the score standing four to three in the Reds' favor, no out and a man on second. A timely hit brought this man in, and in the tenth a double into right and a single shortly after enabled the American Leaguers to put across the winning run
